EXPERIENCE

Red Ventures, Austin, TX — Front End Developer

March 2019 - Present

As a web developer at Red Ventures, I maintain and build web UI improvements and features for ThePointsGuy.com. A JavaScript, PHP, and React-driven credit card rewards and travel site.
In my role, I lead TPG's UI rebranding and overhaul initiative and spearheaded the build for our Best Cards page. I created personalized experiences using proprietary software for A/B testing and decisioning based on tests, user agent information, and rules. I also worked on the development and maintenance of our CardMatch tool, a React application that shows users pre-approved and special offers from credit issuers.

CreditCards.com, Austin, TX — Web Engineer

February 2018 - March 2019

As part of a small team of developers, I helped build and maintain creditcards.com. During my time there, I was part of the team responsible for the rebrand initiative. I frequently worked on fetching and manipulating data from our credit cards API to provide dynamic results to our end users.

What.it.is Creative, Austin, TX — Web Developer

November 2013 - February 2018

Build Custom, fully responsive + interactive Wordpress themes, Marketing sites, email templates, and mobile / web apps using custom UI controls, Sass, PHP, and Javascript. I am responsible for the maintenance of existing client sites and managing the lead on all front end / ui development. Daily tasks include working with the design team to create beautiful and user friendly web experiences, test display and functional issues across all modern browsers and devices.
